

July 2007: The female yew grows NE of the church. A considerable time ago its main branch was cut off at a height of about 12' (A). Very thick twiggy growth covered its lower bole, but it was still possible to record a girth of exactly 19' at its base.

