

1910: 'The churchyard contains a fine old yew tree'. Cambridge county geographies - H. H. Arnold-Bemrose

1999: The male yew is a hollow shell with a girth of 11' 9" at 1'. Foliage was thin and carried on new branches which grow from the bole above a height of 8'.

© Tim Hills - Ancient Yew Group - 2019