

The site is thought to be of early medieval foundation. A well is found on the opposite side of the road.

2005: Remains of this formidable male yew are found at the SE corner of the churchyard. It consists of 3 massive fragments, each complex with a mixture of old remnants and new growth. Girth was 29' 10" at the ground.

In 2019 I understand that this ancient yew has been felled.