

ST MARY HOO

Deconsecrated in 1971

TQ80377659

The church, which dates back about 700 years, has now been converted to a private dwelling. The yew, which grows NE of the building is a hollow shell with a large dead section.

In 2006 the owner reported a girth of 10' 10" at 5', a height of 30'/35' - having lost some of its top in the hurricane of 1987.

Photos - Andrew Laphorn - 2006

© Tim Hills - Ancient Yew Group - 2019