

2002: The yew was approached along a path lined with hollyhocks. It is male, grows SE of the church and measured 16' 1" at 1'. It is a horse shoe shaped hollow tree with a large internal stem filling the centre. This feeds from and into the tree's main upright branch. On each side of the tree large branches had been removed.

© Tim Hills - Ancient Yew Group - 2019