

The yew grows SE of the church. It was in good health. Its girth, over a covering of ivy, was 200cm at 60cm. In 2013, when there was no ivy covering the trunk, Tim Hills recorded a girth of 5' 11½" (182cm) at 2'.

The yew grows 6m from the NW corner of the church. In 2013 the base of the tree was hidden behind twiggy growth and could not be measured. In 2021 girth was 263cm at 1m (excluding side stems). The tree is in good health and condition.
