

1999: An ivy filled male tree grows SW of the church. From its solid looking bole branches carry the tree upwards rather than outwards. I found only one place where a small hollow was developing. Girth, exaggerated by ivy: 18' 6" at 1' ; 19' 10" at 3' ; 19' 10" at 5'.

2013: Peter Norton noted a mass of dead ivy in the higher branches. Alder made the bole almost impenetrable and so impossible to take meaningful photos. He was able to record a girth of 18' 10" at 1'.

photos taken in 2005 by Geoff Garlick

© Tim Hills - Ancient Yew Group - 2019