

January 2001: An unusually tall male tree, carried upwards on 2 main branches. Its decay suggests that it will eventually stand on several legs which join above head height. The tree is classified as a veteran because of its condition. Girth was 12' 5" at 3'.

2009: Peter Norton took these photos and recorded a girth of 12' 10" at 3'.

