

The site has been used for Christian worship since the 11th century.

1998: This female yew has an exceptionally straight bole, with no significant growth for about 25'. Its position on top of a large mound adds to its imposing appearance. Many roots are exposed. Girth was exactly 17' at 5'.

