

The yew grows close to the south porch. A tree of some size is shown in two art works of about the same time. On the left is Pertrie's drawing of 1807, on the right an engraving of 1809.

2013: This is what remains of the yew, clearly a healing fragment from the larger tree seen in the art works above. Girth of this leaning fragment was about 10' 6" on 19th May 2013.
